ABOUT

EZEE VEND

Napkin Vending Machine

In India, about 23 percent of girls drop out of school when they start menstruating. In schools, girls don't have access to functional toilets and proper sanitation and disposable facilities. A large percentage of women are forced to use old cloth, newspapers during menstruation. Sanitary pads are expensive and about 70 per cent of women cannot afford them.

Considering this social issue we oasis scientific technologies came out with an very proficient, fully automatic, highly precise and economically reasonable solution, 'Ezee-Vend' a sanitary napkin vending machine which will provide napkins easily in emergency at school/ organizations itself. It not only enables young students and female employees to have access to sanitary napkins, who might otherwise hesitates of buying the pads from market stores, but it also sends out a positive message to ladies, that the schools / organizations are sensitive to their needs. Let ladies Put coins in machine, get a napkin, without shyness and awkwardness.

NAPKIN INCINERATOR

Open disposal of sanitary napkins can affect working atmosphere. most of the napkins in market contains plastic are non-biodegradable & remains for hundred's of years in the environment. Another problem of used napkins is menstrual blood on napkins it stagnates for longer duration which allow's pathogenic bacteria to thrive in it, thus Unhygienic disposal of napkins will lead to various health hazards. Disposal of sanitory napkins in washroom leads in blockages of drain lines results in regular or untimely maintenance. So hygienic disposal of sanitary napkins in public place is essential, keeping this in mind Oasis Scientific technologies brought the product for hygienic disposal of napkins under the name of "Enflammer". It is a fully automatic sanitary napkin incine rator. It is one of the best solution for scientific and hygienic way for disposal of used sanitary napkins. It burns the napkins within few minutes and convert it into sterile ash. It is fully automatic and safe. Just push one button, entire process will be started and stopped automatically.
